

NEO-SAGE®
Create – Improve – Navigate™

Director Bio:

Larry Sharpe is the Director of Neo-Sage.

Larry Sharpe has a varied background which began in the United States Marines. He's worked as an English teacher, an English Coordinator for the Japanese Government, and a marketing rep for the Armed Forces Radio & Television Network. In addition to starting two family businesses, he has also worked with former NYC Police Chief, Bill Bratton, in corporate sales of Pre-employment Screening & Background Investigations, and a multitude of other sales positions. Now, with Neo-Sage, he is passing all that knowledge and experience on.

He's the Director of Special Projects for the World Energy Forum. He is also a Guest Instructor at Columbia's Graduate School of Business and the New York Fashion Institute of Technology, as well as the host of The Ivory Tower Internet Radio Program.

Larry has a Bachelor's Degree in Anthropology from the University of Maryland and a Certification to teach English from the International Center of Language and Culture. He lives with his wife and two daughters in New York City.
